

TAKE PRELIMINARY STEPS IN LITIGATION WHICH IS FAR REACHING IN SCOPE

C. S. AND C. W. JACKMAN PETITION WITH RAILWAY COMMISSION RELATIVE TO ALLEGED OBSTRUCTION OF NAVIGATION.

HEARING HERE JUNE 25

Buildings on Milwaukee Street Bridge Under Fire as Well as Their Legal Rights to Being Maintained Begins Long Fight.

What is probably the preliminary step in a long drawn out litigation which will be carried to the supreme court of the state, and possibly even further, relative to the legal rights of the property owners who have constructed buildings along the Milwaukee street bridge, has been taken by the petitioners in the case of C. S. and C. W. Jackman, who own the buildings on the bridge, before the State Railroad Commission at Madison, through their attorneys, E. W. Richmond, Jackman and E. W. Richmond.

The petition sets forth that the buildings now located on the southern side of the Milwaukee street bridge and also on the northern side of the same structure, are set on piles, piers and foundations which are not placed there without legislative or other authority and that their maintenance interferes with and is an obstruction to navigation and a constant menace to the safety of the public and riparian owners along said stream. It also holds that such obstructions are in violation of Chapter 69 of the laws of 1911.

Far Reaching.
The effect of this petition is far reaching. It may, before it is finished, result in the removal of the buildings already constructed on the bridge, and the destruction of those destroyed by the fire of April 1. Owing to the fact that the United States government recently made a survey of the Rock river, acting under authority of the war department, it is bringing the case into the class of government waters, in which case the United States would be party to the action. Attorneys for the property owners and for the petitioner, have exchanged views on the case and the approaching hearing will be most interesting to citizens generally.

Citizen's Notice.
The Railroad Commission sends out the following notice of the case filed as follows:

Whereas, C. S. and C. W. Jackman, taxpayers and freeholders of the city of Janesville, Rock county, Wisconsin, have petitioned the Railroad Commission, reciting among other allegations:

1. That the entire southern side of the Milwaukee street bridge over Rock river has been covered by buildings erected on piles, piers and concrete foundations; that like buildings, structures, filling and obstructions have been placed on the Rock river along the northwestern side of said bridge;

2. That such buildings, piles, piers and foundations, are a constant menace to navigation and a constant menace to the safety of the public and riparian owners along said stream;

3. That the maintenance of such obstructions is in violation of Chapter 69m of the Laws of Wisconsin for the year 1911; now therefore,

Notice of Hearing.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on the 25th day of June, 1913, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, the Council Chamber of the City Hall in the city of Janesville, the Railroad Commission, pursuant to the authority granted by section 1596 of the Wisconsin Statutes, will hear the petitioners and will receive evidence and testimony in support of the petitioners' case and will determine whether or not the petitioners are entitled to the relief requested.

Hustings' Opinion.
The holding of the supreme court of the United States, in defining the rights of riparian owners in navigable streams, as against the holding of our supreme court in the water power cases, said Senator Hustings. "The United States supreme court holds that the riparian owner has no right in the water, but a private title to running water. The supreme court of Wisconsin held that the right to develop a water power upon a navigable stream was a private right resting in the riparian owner. The principle of the water power law of 1911, which was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court, seems to be sustained by this decision of the United States supreme court. The decision seems to uphold the contention made by those sponsoring the state's position in the water power law of 1911; viz., that the right to develop a water power upon a navigable stream was not an absolute or vested right but was contingent upon a grant of such right by the state."

Local Cases.
Under a decision of the supreme court of Wisconsin in the water power cases, according to Senator Hustings, if the state condemned any land for dam sites, though primarily for the purpose of navigation, compensation would have to be awarded to the riparian owner as to the undeveloped water power rights. Under the decision of the supreme court of the United States, if the state now acquire the constitutional right to develop a water power on a navigable stream, the maintenance of dams for the improvement of navigation and other lawful purposes by paying a reasonable value of the water site, would not have to pay in condemnation proceedings any sum whatever for any potential or undeveloped water power value.

LOBBY PROBE TAKEN UP AGAIN TODAY BY SENATE COMMITTEE

Former Members of Congress Tell of Activity in Matters of Former Legislation.

Washington, June 10.—Former members of congress, attorneys and others who have represented special interests in Washington, continued testimony today before the special senate committee in search of the "lobby."

Former Governor Carter of Hawaii testified that the domestic sugar producers working in Washington room in "everybody raising sugar under the American flag and has spent something less than $100,000 in their fight. A Mr. Mead" handled the money.

"We had paid out $300,000 we would consider it well spent if we could save the $82,000 invested," he said. "We propose to keep someone here to continue the fight as long as the sugar interest exists."

As for himself he said he had done little more in Washington than prepare a brief.

I called at the White House and tried to get an appointment with the president. His secretary told me that the president's mind was made up and that it would be useless to see him and denied me the right. I then asked to see him as an individual and he said he would see me the next week before I leave.

"In your activities have you encountered anybody working in behalf of the consumer?" asked a member of the committee.

"I am confident that we represent the consumer as well as the producer," he replied.

ELECTION IS CALLED ON RECALL PETITION

TUESDAY, JULY 22, SET ASIDE BY RESOLUTION OF CITY COUNCIL.

FATHERS A CANDIDATE

Name Goes Upon Official Ballot Without Preliminaries Required of Other Candidates.

Tuesday, July 22 was designated as the time for a special election to vote on the question of the recall of Mayor James A. Fathers, and the election of his successor by a recall petition.

At a special meeting of the city council held at ten o'clock this morning, Mayor Fathers himself introduced the resolution which resolves "that the certificate of the city clerk, filed in pursuance of a stipulation, wherein he returns as sufficient a petition for the recall of James A. Fathers, from the office of mayor of said city be accepted and filed."

The certification of the petition for the recall of Mayor Fathers as sufficient was made by City Clerk J. P. Hammart on Tuesday, June 4, and was the result of a compromise effected between the attorneys for the city, M. O. Mount, Thomas S. Nolan, Otto R. Oestreich, and W. H. Dougherty, with the attorneys for the recall supporters, John L. Fisher and J. M. Clancy of Stoughton.

The petitioners agreed on May 5 to drop the action brought in the circuit court to secure mandamus compelling the city clerk to call an election for the recall of the mayor and Councilmen Cummings and Milmore, on condition that the city clerk certify the petition against Mayor Fathers as sufficient.

Should two or more seek the office of mayor, a primary election will be held two weeks before the regular election, this primary having as its purpose the determination of who among the nominees will be the opponent at the polls of Mayor Fathers, who is by virtue of his office and the provisions of the recall statute, a candidate.

His name goes upon the official ballot for the special election without the preliminaries required of the other candidates.

Any person who desires to become a candidate for mayor will have to file nomination papers, at least twenty before the clubs in nearly every section of the city. It is, on or before June 18, if one candidate files nomination papers no primary need be held, and if no nomination papers are filed no election need be held.

RAILWAY STOCKS ON A DOWNWARD GRADE

MINNESOTA RATE DECISION CAUSES CONSIDERABLE EXCITEMENT IN NEW YORK AND LONDON.

CONGRESS MAY ACT

Affair Talked Over in Washington—Contentions of Court Generally Upheld.

Washington, June 10.—Lawyers who gathered today at the supreme court to listen to the application of the principles laid down by Justice Hughes in the Minnesota rate cases in the rate cases from Missouri, Arkansas, Oregon and West Virginia, were of the opinion that rate-making both in the states and before the federal government had been reduced to a much more accurate basis than ever before. All sorts of opinions prevailed as to where the victory rested in the Minnesota decision. Minnesota state officials, in dispatches, expressed their pleasure over the result, and Attorney General McCreedy and members of the Interstate Commerce Commission said they were fully satisfied.

Railways View.
The prospect of congress taking charge of the state rates affecting interstate commerce indirectly lent encouragement to the railroads that they would escape from regulation by forty-eight state commissions.

Decision Problem.
It allowed the railroad to multiply the normal market value of land by two in order to arrive at the cost of reproducing the right-of-way, one of the three big cities in that state.

Unfair Reasoning.
That would allow railroads to enjoy the benefit of the general property of the country by receiving a return on the investment of the investment, but increase the value of their investment.

Stocks Slumped.
New York, June 10.—Wall street's interest in the rate cases of the railroads by the Minnesota rate decision was shown at the opening of the stock market today when railway shares slumped badly. The Hill stocks, which were directly reflected in the rate cases, were the most sufferers, but virtually all stocks traded in fell to the lowest of the year with losses extending to more than four points.

Brokers Excited.
Brokers insisted that the trading posts on the floor of the stock exchange long before the opening of the market which was the signal for excited selling. In the first downward rush large blocks of stock were sold. The market was a disaster and one-fourth points to one hundred five. Great Northern Pfd., another stock directly concerned in the outcome of the case, declined three points.

Other Shares.
Other railway stocks were depressed sharply, losses ranging from 1 to 2%. The slump in railway shares caused sympathetic depression to the rest of the market. Among the industrials the heaviest selling was in United States steel which broke 1½ at the opening when a single block of 5,000 shares was sold. Losses in American Express, the largest stock, ran from 1 to 3 points. Large supporting orders had been distributed before the opening of the market and their execution checked the break after the first sharp decline.

Breaks Again.
After ten minutes of trading the market grew steadier and recovered a small part of early losses. Severe declines of American stocks in London before the opening here gave the market a new impetus. On account of the support of this market, however, the opening declines here in some cases were smaller than the losses in the London market.

Firm Fails.
The failure was announced on the London stock exchange today of the established brokerage firm of Enghelbert and Schloesser. The firm's failure could not be ascertained this morning.

Draws.
The failure was due to heavy commitments through its German connections in Canadian Pacific, Rio Tinto, steel stocks and other American securities.

BRIDGE BOND ISSUE TO BE VOTED UPON WEDNESDAY, JULY 2

Date of Election Determined by Resolution of Council This Morning

Other Important Business.
Janesville voters will express their approval or disapproval of an issue of negotiable municipal bonds for the city in the sum of $38,000 for the purpose of raising funds for the construction of a concrete bridge over Rock river on Milwaukee street at a special election to be held on Wednesday, July 2. This fact was determined by the City Council this morning when at its adjourned meeting it passed a resolution calling a special election. This resolution includes the instruction to the Board of Public Works to investigate the question of rebuilding and its complete report made to the City Council and adopted in April. The text of the resolution which follows is in part:

"Be it further resolved, by the Mayor and Council of said city that in reliance upon the said report and further upon a full, fair, and independent examination of the matter, it is decided and determined that a new bridge be constructed across Rock river at the points aforesaid and that appropriate legal steps be taken to secure such construction; that said bridge shall be built in accordance with the plans prepared and submitted by C. V. Kerch, the City Engineer of said City which said plans have been submitted to and met the approval of the Railway Commission of the state of Wisconsin, and which plans are hereby accepted and adopted subject to such changes as may hereafter be made, that funds to provide for the cost of said bridge carefully estimated at $38,000, be raised and provided for by the issue and sale of the negotiable bonds of said city. The remainder of the resolution prescribes the manner in which the special election shall be called, the form of ballot, the time of election, and the manner in which it shall be conducted.

The City Council went into session shortly before ten o'clock this morning, and an adjournment was taken until this evening at which time the bills before the Council will be allowed. This adjournment was taken on the basis of the legal requirement that all bills must be allowed at a regular meeting.

Reports for the month of May were received from the City Treasurer, the visiting nurse, the chief of police the municipal court, and the board of education. All were accepted and placed on file, the publication of the board of education report being ordered. City Sealer of Weights and Measures Walter Helms made a report of his work during the last month of the month. Messrs. Harry S. Haggart and William McCue, engaged to audit the accounts of the City Treasurer also submitted a report of their findings. The Council declared the reports approved and ordered them placed on file.

Three hundred and ninety-seven cubic yards of stone were crushed at the city stone crushing plant in the period from May 26 to June 7, according to the report of W. B. Dulin, superintendent of the plant. Of the total, Gund & Graham received 7 yards, the city 64 yards, Pleasant Street 204 yards, and William Hughes 122 yards.

Petitions for zoning were received from property owners on Fifth avenue between Prospect and Glen streets, on Prospect avenue from Cornelia street to Milton avenue, and on Jackson street from Union to Galena street. They were accepted and placed on file, each of the three petitions being signed by a majority of the property owners on the portions of the streets designated.

Boos & Schoof were granted permission to erect an addition to the Colvin bakery at the corner of East Milwaukee street and Division street on the recommendation of Chief Klei of the fire department.

The Council expressed its approval and confirmation of the election of Benjamin W. Smith to the membership of the Janesville Fire Police, and confirmed the appointment of Elmer Gleason as special policeman, his term expiring June 10.

City Treasurer George W. Muenchovs was directed to transfer from the Fourth Avenue bridge fund to the Bridge Fund the sum of $4725.49, the same being the balance in the Fourth Avenue Bridge Fund.

The Superintendent of Streets was directed to serve notice to build cement sidewalks on the lots at 375 and 376, Pease Third Addition on Cornelia street.

With other members of the club, I have the utmost confidence in the twelve men we elected to represent us at the annual meeting at the City Hall recently. I am certain they are all men of integrity and worth and the stirring intention of the writer of the article in this morning's paper is not the sentiment of the members generally. It is customary for the governing body of any organization to hold private meetings to discuss matters of importance. The directors of the Twenty Five Thousand club have simply followed out precedent in this matter. It is time to stop knocking and begin boosting, although probably the writer of the article referred to is not acquainted with the term boosting, judging from past effusions.

Janesville is to ever get ahead it is time for concerted action and such action cannot be brought about by such insinuations as referred to. Boost all the time. That is the slogan.

REQUIRE A LICENSE OF NON-RESIDENTS

New Law Provides Regulations for Clam Diggers in Inland Waters of Wisconsin.

Non-resident clam diggers henceforth must pay fifty dollars and shall be allowed to use but one boat for such a purpose, according to a bill passed at the present session of the legislature and which is now effective. The regulation will be of interest to a number of persons in Rock county who have been taking clams from Rock river, as many of them are not residents of the state. The act is known as Chapter 423 of the laws of 1913, and will be enforced by the act comes within the jurisdiction of the state game warden's department. Following is the text of the measure: Section 1. There is added to the statutes of this state, to read: Section 1498-1. It shall be unlawful for any non-resident of this state, as defined in section 1498 of the statutes, to take, catch or kill any clam in any inland waters under the jurisdiction of this state, without having first obtained a license therefor as provided in section 1498 of the statutes. The fee for such license shall be fifty dollars per year, and such license, when issued, shall authorize the person to whom the same is issued to take or catch clams in such inland water and to use one boat for such purpose.

2. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be punished as provided in subsection 9 of section 1498 of the statutes. Game Warden W. F. Mason stated today that the law would be rigidly enforced and that he had received instructions from State Game Warden Scholts in regard to the matter. At present there are between ten and fifteen gangs of clam diggers operating on Rock river between Indian Ford and Beloit, most of whom are from Muscatine, where the clam beds have become exhausted. There are from two to three men in each gang and each man will be required to take out a license as there must be a license to each boat.

In addition to the commercial value of the clam shells and the pearls occasionally found in them, clams have value as fish food and the method of catching them is a marked degree of harm to the spawning beds for fish hindering in a marked degree the breeding of game fish in the inland rivers.

Mr. Mason will also issue warnings against the practice of throwing the meats extracted from the clam shells into the river.

VETERAN MISSIONARY VISITS JANESVILLE

The Rev. Henry S. Barnum, Forty-six Years in Turkey, Guest of Cousin Dr. William Judd.

Forty-six years of missionary service in Turkey, twenty-eight years of this time in Constantinople, is the record of the Rev. Henry S. Barnum, who was yesterday and today the guest of his cousin, Dr. William Judd, residing on St. Lawrence avenue. This in itself would mark him for distinction but he has the further record of voting for a president of the United States last fall for the first time after an interval of forty-eight years. He voted in 1864 for Abraham Lincoln. The Rev. Barnum works under the direction of the American Board of Missions, the great Congregational church mission body with its headquarters at Boston. He is proficient in both the American and Turkish languages and has been the editor of two papers in that language, one a weekly for adults, the other a juvenile monthly. He has been in the United States for a year and expects to return to Constantinople in September. At the time he left the war between Italy and Turkey was in progress and the present war between the allied Balkan states and Turkey was hardly foreseen. Turkey's poor showing and defeat in this war was largely due to her unpreparedness, says the Rev. Barnum. Her soldiers are brave and good fighters but they were half-starved. The cause of the inefficiency of the army commissary department. The allies could never pick a more propitious moment to declare war for Turkey had come out of the war with Italy in a very much weakened condition, and the political dissension and disruption made their task the easier.

Substantial improvements in several directions were made under the "Young Turk" regime, according to the Rev. Barnum, and more would not have been made if the war had not intervened. Before the revolution brought about by this party, as editor of two papers, he had to have every article written for them pass through the censor who had the right to prohibit the publication of anything he saw fit. The Young Turks abolished the censorship.

Travel permits such as were formerly demanded from all who left the province are no longer required. These permits contained a complete description of the person to whom they were granted, his destination, and other particulars. Under the old regime it was almost impossible to obtain building permits and the construction of a large Armenian church planned many years ago, was not begun until the overthrow of the government of Abdul Hamid. Sanitary conditions in Constantinople were improved by the Young Turks, a new bridge built across the Golden Horn, electric cars are supplanting the old horse trams, and telephones are being installed. The decline of the Young Turks is largely accounted for by their intemperance with power and its misuse for unworthy ends.

A reception for the Rev. Barnum was held last evening at the home of Dr. Judd, and many interested in his work called to meet him.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS WILL SERVE AT BANQUET

Waiters for the alumni banquet have been chosen from the Junior and Sophomore class of the high school. This is an annual custom of having waiters from the school, and the following students have been chosen to serve on Friday night: Irene Lewis, Marion Matheson, Evelyn Welsh, Ruth Soulmair, Lorene Bowerman, Florence Nuzum, Margaret Jeffris, Marjorie Van Kirk, Jessica George, Gladys Franklin, Walter Greene, Edward Atwood, Harold Laughlin, Chas. Noyes, Stuart Mount, Fred Woolf, Maurice Wierick, Louis Hayes, Allen Dearborn, Garnett McVicar.

The banquet will be the closing affair for the senior graduates who receive their diplomas on Thursday. They become members of the Alumni association on this night, and are no longer high school students. The church this week, promised to hold a high quality, such preparation has been made. A record breaking crowd is being planned for by the arrangement committee.

RACINE DELEGATION

The marching club of the Racine delegation in the U. C. T. parade on Friday afternoon attracted considerable attention. Headed by two Scotch pipers in "kilts" they made a fine showing in their natty white trousers and white caps. The above illustration shows the Racine marchers coming up South Main street. Racine made a strong bid for the next U. C. T. convention but lost to Marshfield.

Prospective Citizens, Holding First Papers Under Old Law Must Apply for Second Papers at Once.

All prospective citizens in Rock county, who hold their first papers under the old law, must make their application for second papers at the clerk of the circuit court's office before June 21st or their first papers will be void, according to the new naturalization law. If such persons fail to apply before this date, it would make it obligatory for them to take out first papers again, requiring a wait of two years before second papers at full citizenship rights could be secured. Applications must be filed before June 21 will be considered at the September term of the circuit court. There are at present sixty-four applications on file.

LINK AND PIN

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. Twenty-five section men arrived yesterday from Chicago to begin work of the Chicago and Milwaukee St. Paul switching yards and repairing the platform around the station. The enormous amount of traffic that passes over the St. Paul tracks has caused them to be much worn and all are in great need of repairs. The section of rails coming from the Mineral Point line has not been repaired for some time and as a result the wheels have worn the rails to a dangerous limit. Repairs have been previously contemplated upon but owing to the great demand of section men on other parts of the system no help could be had. More men are wanted and Roadmaster Franklin expects at least fifty men will be used in the re-laying of the tracks in the vicinity of the roundhouse and the station.

Orders to start equipping the locomotives on the local divisions with electric headlights have been received and work will be started in the near future to comply with the state law which compels that all engines in the state of Wisconsin shall have electric headlights. This law is to take effect on the first of July and owing to the great demand the manufacturers of the equipment have not been able to meet the demands. It is expected that at least one man will be sent out from the Milwaukee shops to aid in the work.

HIS ULTIMATUM.

"Mother," said Chauncey Skiggles, "unless you allow me to serpe the pan I will deliver my ultimatum."

"No," repeated his mother (she had said it once before our story opened). "No. No. No. No!" (See footnote.) "I'm not afraid of your ultimatum. You're a peer moy—a meer boy, what can you do?"

"I will enlist and go off and shoot!"

"Oh, Chauncey! Chauncey!"

"May I scrape the pan?"

"No! No! I must teach you that when I say no I mean it! But Chauncey—"

He was gone. The front door slammed with an oaken bang. "He can't have meant it," the mother breathed to herself. "He wouldn't leave me in my old age and enlist and go off and shoot!"

But the young man did mean it. Four hours later, while the mother waited in vain for his return, Chauncey was still shooting the one-ball in a billiard parlor for a nickel a shot.

George Sisler, the Phenomenal southpaw of the University of Michigan, has thrown out his arm and it is unlikely that he will be able to use it the rest of the year. Sisler, however, is a wonderful batter and there is a chance that Fred Clarke, who has signed him for his Pittsburgh Pirate outfit, will use him in the outfield.

American and Other Opals.
It is generally conceded that the opals found in any part of America are less hard than those found in other localities, but they are no less brilliant, and some of them withstand atmospheric effect and the wear of time quite as well. Others again fade and become translucent and opaque in course of time, or according to the degree of exposure.

MANY ENTRIES FOR BIG TARGET SHOOT OF THE GUN CLUB

Sixty-Seven Experts Faced the Traps Today at Best Match Ever Held in City.

Sixty-seven "gun men" from all sections of this state and northern Illinois were listed in the registered tournament held by the Janesville Gun Club in their shoot this afternoon on Washington street. Being favored by good weather the contest was one of the most successful ever held by the local gun club and exceptional creditable scores were made. There were ten events of fifteen targets, making a total number of 150 birds that the gunners shot at. The prize money was open only to amateurs and included the entrance fees and fifty dollars additional money contributed by the Interstate association.

Noted gunners from the middle west, many of them of international fame, were contestants in today's meet and judging from the high scores that were being made at the sixth event, local records will be shattered. George Roll, of Chicago, was leading at the sixth event with only four down and A. J. Wagner, of Brookfield, was second with five misses out of ninety targets. From the consistent manner in which Roll has been leading the field up to the seventh event, he is expected to be high gun. W. D. Stanard is leading the professionals with seven down.

Among the professional gunners entered in the tournament who are representing a motor or gun company, are Edward S. Graham of Ingleside, Illinois, winner of the Illinois state shoot in 1911; S. E. Robins, Frank Selfken, E. C. Mathews, H. R. Patterson, F. R. Gilman and W. D. Stanard. Those not in the amateur class are Frank Fuller, present champion trap shooter of this state; Charles Shumway of Milwaukee; J. R. Young, of Chicago; George Roll, of Chicago; William Jackson of Long Lake, Illi-

THANKS TO A CLASSY PITCHING STAFF, BROOKLYN NATIONALS MAKE A SHOWING

Thanks to the classy work of its pitching staff, the Brooklyn team in the National league is making a better showing this season than for many years past. Nap Rucker is the best southpaw in the National league, barring, perhaps, Rube Marquard. Ragon is contributing ably to the success of the team by his twirling. Yingling recently pitched a two-hit game against the Boston Braves and proves that he is far from being all in, as other major league teams have supposed.

AUTOMOBILE THIEF CONFESSES GUILT AND IS SENTENCED

Bert Kreuger, One of Two Men Who Stole Machine of Thomas Steele, Gets Four Years and Six Months in Waupun.

Bert Kreuger, one of the two young men who stole the automobile of Thomas Steele, chairman of the town of Union, on the night of June 1, was placed under arrest at Spooner, Wisconsin, yesterday by Marshal C. B. Broughton, and pleaded guilty to the crime in the municipal court this morning.

Judge Fifeid sentenced him to four and one-half years' imprisonment in the state's prison at Waupun. Kreuger was willing to waive examination to which he was entitled and filed a petition to be allowed to plead guilty at once. He had nothing to say why sentence should not be passed upon him, admitting that he knew what he was about when he stole the machine.

The reason why a sentence so near the maximum was passed upon Kreuger as that he has been convicted of previous offenses and served time in Waupun. He was sentenced there for five years for being involved in a robbery at Brodhead and was paroled a year ago last March when he had seven months left of his term. During the time of his parole and for several months afterward he was employed by Mr. Steele.

Ray Norton, whom Kreuger declares was his associate in the theft of the automobile, is still at large. He served three years in the reformatory at St. Cloud, Minnesota, and has been out only three months. The prisoner was one of a party of seven that came down from Evanston, Illinois, this morning in the stolen automobile and one other machine. The other members of the party were Thomas Steele, Marshal C. Broughton, Deputy Sheriff Peter L. B. Broughton, Deputy Marshal Frank West and Frank Hyne. The stolen automobile, a 1913 Ford, was not badly damaged by the thieves, who had it driven to the city of Janesville, where it was sold for $800. One of the thieves, a little out of adjustment, it was put in shape in short order. The car had been run 150 miles since being stolen.

Ray Norton, whom Kreuger declares was his associate in the theft of the automobile, is still at large. Every Day Talks For Every Day People . . .

As the school year draws to a close how many of us mothers are going to take the time to visit the schools where our children attend and personally thank the teacher for the splendid work she has done in behalf of our children?

The mother who hasn't the time to co-operate with her children and their teacher in school life is generally the mother who is forced to wonder why her Sammie and Susie must put in two years' time in one year's work.

I met a mother of this type the other day. She complained to me that her little girl was not going to be promoted. "Has she been ill?" I inquired. "No, that is just what I cannot understand," she hasn't missed but three days during the entire year. I don't think her teacher is any good," she said in a very decided tone of voice.

It developed that she hardly knew the teacher in question, (still she was sure she wasn't any good) had not even once called to see how her little girl was progressing, or if there was any way that she might help.

When I suggested that she might aid a great deal by lending a hand at home, by finding out from the teacher just where her little one was deficient, and drilling along these things, she blazed up and said: "The teacher gets paid for her work; I've enough to do at home without running to school and helping her out." As my ideas and hers were somewhat different I kept silent.

It's always better not to argue with a person who has a grouch and wants to whine about it. You can't change them and they can't change you.

However, when any mother says a teacher is paid for her work and that she is not going to help, she makes a very grave mistake.

There's things in this world that gold cannot buy and the services of a conscientious teacher comes by right under this head.

The parents can never repay the teachers of our children! We can't! They are with our children when they are in an impressionable stage, and in their calm, helpful, cheerful manner they keep steadily at the wonderful work of character-building.

Isn't the explosive rule-making, tyrannical parents who mould the characters of our future citizens? It's the teachers who peg away slowly and steadily to accomplishment—the teachers who are never "off guard"—who have no "company manners" to alight don and as airily lay aside.

It's a parent's duty to stand behind their children all through school life aiding and encouraging in every possible way.

This work is most essentially a woman's work. A woman's duty to see to it, though of course the men aid. He does aid financially. (Does he ever get credit for the way he pegs along as steady as the kitchen clock?)

Father and mother should both lend a hand. When a child leaves the grades for the high school, there is such a conglomeration of studies put up in a brilliant array before the young mind to choose from, that it's small wonder so many of our boys and girls want to leave school.

Now I am not trying to disparage our school methods. By no means! We have many things to improve in our schools, but they keep steadily trying to improve them, and our professor is about as hard a worked man as there is in our town. Do we realize it? Do we appreciate it?

So many of our young people choose a certain course because they can avoid some certain study that has the reputation of being hard to master, never thinking of the practical side of the course at all, or if it will be a first aid to them in the daily grind of the world, later on.

I had the opportunity of hearing a really splendid father talk to his fourteen years old girl who is just finishing the grades and who brought home a great deal of matter pertaining to the different courses in our high school.

She was enthusing as only a healthy, happy youngster can, on how "perfectly great" it was to be able to go to "High" next fall. Her father listened in good natured silence while she was told of the course she "thought she'd like."

Then he started to talk, and if more children had a father like that man half the problems of our country would be solved by way of elimination. He pointed out to her the advisability of taking some special course that would fit her for some special work.

"You must yourself be able to earn your own living if the occasion demands it," he told her. "If you never marry, or if you some day marry and have a home of your own and your husband should die or sickness should incapacitate him for work, would it not be a splendid thing for you to call forth the training you received in High School and by it earn your living?"

He talked to her of the necessity of us all preparing ourselves for just such an emergency, telling her that no one carries a guarantee from fate that their path in life will always be a primrose one.

To be able to do one thing well was what he sought to instill into her young mind. He never heard a father speak kinder, more sensible to a daughter, and this little girl has been trained at home in the many little ways that go to make a girl a joy to any household. She has been taught to cook, sew, do her own mending.

Now she is not compelled to do all this on account of their finances, for her parents are abundantly able to care for her now, and in all probability always will be.

Still they taught her to be self-helping from the start, wisely realizing that a self-reliant man or woman is a blessing to themselves and to the community at large.

We can all copy this splendid father and mother to advantage, and we can all appreciate the work the teachers are doing for our children. Appreciating it, we can let it be known by extending a ringing vote of thanks to the noble band of men and women who are daily aiding our children up the hill of knowledge, not forgetting the teachers and the good, kind, patient sisters in our parochial schools who are daily demonstrating the strength of silent forces.

POOR PA! HE GRIEVES BECAUSE IT'S TIME AGAIN FOR THOSE LITTLE PICNIC PARTIES IN THE PARK

The approach of the summer months and the opening of the summer parks remind us that the time is not far off when Aurora's blistering beams will beat down upon our brows and take the starch out of our collars as well as our amiable dispositions. Evading the heat is one of summer's most popular pastimes and there are many ways of playing it. Perhaps the favorite of the bunch is the Sunday outing.

Sunday outings are considered great stuff by every member of the family except father. Somehow father never gives a shout of joy when mother allows we'll go on a picnic next Sunday. Mother says she wouldn't go for the world if it wasn't for the children; and the rest, and fresh air will do so much good. She says he needs something to refresh his jaded system after the work at his office all week and so she packs up thirty pounds of potato salad and saratoga chips and deviled eggs and the following Sunday father emits a pack-mule. Mother says father, emulates a mule on the other days of the week too, but that's another story.

It's funny, but it seems like the nicest places to sit down under a tree are always at the top of a hill. Mother isn't sure but that there might be ants in the grass up there so father climbs up to ascertain with an 8-gal. ice cream freezer on his back and hugging the lunch basket. After pulling this knock-about comedy not several times—father generally slips with his load to the intense amusement of the children—they find a tree on a hill without many ants around. And the rest of the day is given over to quiet and simple enjoyments such as when Willie rubs a deviled egg in sister's hair.

Young people at the Harold and Ethel age seek their "dolce far niente" at the summer parks. A summer offers a young man every opportunity to prove to his snooty-looking that he makes an awful splash with him. He can spend two-thirds of his salary on her without half trying and have three

DINNER STORIES

Richard Butler Glaenger, the New York essayist and critic, said at the Players' club:

"Poetry is delightful. But poets are so very poorly paid. I know a millionaire who has a beautiful gold-storage egg. Whereupon he turned gravely to his audience.

"Now truly spoke the good Marcellus," quoth he. "Something is rotten in the state of Denmark."

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

AUTOMOBILE TERMS.
By Howard L. Rann.

WE have had so many requests for an intelligent definition of the term, "fully equipped," as applied to the automobile industry, that we have decided to define the term for the benefit of readers who are about to invest in a car. These definitions can be relied upon as absolutely accurate and authoritative.

Automobile. A four-wheeled vehicle loaded with human freight and farm mortgages.

Automobile owner. A near-sighted pleasure seeker who is not required to do anything but buy gasoline and tires.

Speedometer. A gauge which indicates the time to deceased was run into.

High gear. Something which automobile agents use to climb hills with.

Changing gears. A genteel shift accompanied by a noise like throwing two tons of hard coal down a manhole.

Self-starter. A wonderful device which enables a car to be started from the seat every once in a while, provided it hasn't stopped on dead center.

Primer. A substitute for the self-starter which always works fine for a demonstrator, but never does anything afterward.

Crank. A human self-starter with four skinned knuckles and a back bowed like a mountain broncho.

Muffler cut-out. A melodious device which is used to create runaways and profanity.

Horn. A warning signal which enables the absentminded pedestrian to jump six feet off the pavement and alight on all fours.

Tire. A piece of rubber belting which seldom costs more than a town lot.

Puncture. A small, eager hole in a tire which never happens until the nearest garage is fifteen miles in the rear of Charles Hawkey's.

Gasoline. A costly fuel composed of one-fourth naphtha and three-fourths pure, cold water.

WEST CENTER

West Center, June 9.—School closed May 31st in district No. 1. Some outdoor athletics were indulged in by all who wished to participate in the afternoon. The teacher, Mr. Foote, treated the pupils to ice cream and candy and peanuts. Charles Winkelman furnished music with his phonograph. Eight pupils wrote for diplomas but as the standings have not as yet been returned, it is not known who passed.

Jay Fuller is grading the road from the county road west to the bridge east of Charles Hawkey's.

Mr. and Mrs. John McNiff and son, William, of Batavia, Ill., are visiting at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. William Adey and family.

Miss Florence Pepper and brother, Eldred, of Ames, Iowa, arrived last Tuesday to spend their vacation with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Long and Mrs. Wulstrack and son, Charles, went to Janesville in the former's auto Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Herman Ziecke and Miss Florence Pepper visited with their aunt, Mrs. George Pepper, last Wednesday.

Charles Winkelman and mother spent Sunday at the home of Robert Welling in North Spring Valley.

George Pepper and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Pepper's niece, Mrs. William Adey, Jr., at Leyden.

There was quite a heavy frost Saturday night but aside from tobacco plants being slightly frozen, no damage is reported.

Visible Evidence.

One day a teacher was having a first-grade class in physiology. She asked them if they knew that there was a burning fire in the body all of the time. One little girl spoke up and said: "Yea, when it is a cold day I can see the smoke."—National Monthly

The choir wished to sing a hymn, the first verse of which ended: "The night is falling. Heaven help us as we're calling." But as they wished it for morning service, the leader suggested that they change the wording of it a bit. A young man dutifully proposed the following amendment: "The morn is dawning. Heaven help us as we're yawning."

HASN'T RECOVERED FROM BIG WEDDING

Empress of Germany.

It is an open secret in the German capital that the health of the German empress is again gravely impaired. She is still extremely tired from the exertions and excitement attendant upon the recent wedding of her daughter, Princess Luise, and will have to spare herself as much as possible during the coming silver jubilee festivities.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

A REMINDER.

AS WE were passing through the business district about half past five the other afternoon, we ran into a crowd of factory girls who were just getting out from their work. Some of them passed quietly out and down the street, losing themselves in the crowd; but others rushed noisily forth, chewing gum and talking at the top of their lungs, and took boisterous possession of the sidewalk, wailing three or four abreast, crowding people into the street and generally attracting attention. One group of them actually hop-skipped for several blocks.

The Author-Man's wife was with us, and I think I shall never forget the look of disdain and disgust she turned on the three girls who were skipping. She didn't actually draw back her skirts, but the expression of her face looked as if she were doing that. "How can they make such fools of themselves," she said sharply to her companion. "Look at that creature chewing gum; I wish she could see how disgusting she looks, and such language! I'll never get caught down here at this time of night again!" And she quickened her pace to get away from "the creatures."

The Lady-Who-Always-Knows-Somewhat was walking with me. As she stepped back from the street into which she had been crowded by the hop-skippers, she turned to me with a beautiful smile. "Do you know what they make me think of?" she said. "Of a line in one of our first Readers poems—Glad with the freedom of school let out. No wonder they hop and skip. Poor things, how good it must seem to them to get out into the air; it must be like escaping from prison."

How anyone can dare to feel as the Author-Man's wife did is something I cannot understand.

And how anyone can help feeling at least a little of the divine sympathy which fit the Lady's face into momentary beauty is equally incomprehensible. How can you or I or anyone dare to feel disdain for the loudest, cheapest, most vulgar girl in all the city when we do not know what we might have been if we had had her opportunities—or rather her lack of them.

John Wesley one day saw a drunken man reeling along the sidewalk, and to the astonishment of his companions who drew away in righteous disgust he said: "There, but for the grace of God, goes John Wesley." I think the father of Methodism never preached a greater sermon.

Suppose those girls did hop-skip and chew gum, and shout out slang phrases to each other, and crowd people off the sidewalk, and wear loud and vulgar clothes? Do you dare to say that if you had been born and bred as they were you would have done differently?

And if you need any further stimulus to tolerance, please think of some of the members of our so-called best society. Think of their loud voices, their vulgar and even indecent clothes, their bad manners and their selfish indifference to the rights of others, and then think of their vast opportunities; and instead of blaming the "lower class" girl because she is no better, I am sure you will be ready to praise her because she is no worse.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are three young ladies about thirty-five years old. We are taking up a post graduate course at a college in our town. We are all in love with a young man about twenty-one years of age. He is too young for us; therefore we have allowed to let him hinder us in the pursuit of knowledge. For several years we have lived together happily and should we now allow such a circumstance to separate us? He has spent many pleasant evenings in our home and we do not know which one he comes to see. Would it be proper to ask him?

ANXIOUS ONES.

You had better continue to live together in harmony and allow no friendship of this kind to spoil your friendship. The boy probably likes you as he would like his elder sisters and has no thought of love. He'd probably run so fast that none of you could catch him if he knew what you were thinking. Poor kid—with three old maids in love with him! That's the truth. Place it squarely and make up your mind to be loyal to each other and continue your pursuit of knowledge instead of the young man.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—When a girl or boy graduates, what do people say to them? Do they say "congratulations" or "well done"? Or do they say "good luck" and "hope you will like your new work"? Is that correct? (2)—If you sent your name with any words that were shipped out of town, and you got an answer on it, would you answer it if you were me?

DOLLIE EVANS.

(1)—Anything in the way of good wishes would be suitable. (2)—I am afraid it would be rather risky. The writer might be a decent sort, but in most cases he's not to be trusted.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—My eyes are dull and the white part of my eyes is streaked with red which makes them look bad. What will make them brighter?

(2)—My nose is always red and shiny; even when I put powder on it's the same. What will make my nose white?

(3)—My face is chapped, and my skin looks like it is peeling off. What will make it smooth and clear?

(4)—I am afraid you are not in very good health, or you have been examining your eyes. Ask a doctor to examine you and prescribe a tonic if it's needed. Don't put anything into the eyes, but when the eyes feel tired, soak a cloth with witchhazel, lie down, keep quiet for 10 or 15 minutes, then take the cloth off. You will find the eyes strengthened and refreshed.

(5)—Tight collars, waistbands or corsets and tight shoes will make a red nose. Also, bad digestion will do it. Massage the nose with cold cream before powdering. A little peroxide will perhaps help it, but don't use too much.

(6)—Get a good cold cream and massage the face well every night, after bathing with warm water and a mild toilet soap. If your skin is very tender, use bran or oatmeal instead of soap. Rub a tiny bit of cold cream into the skin after washing in the morning, then dust with powder, and leave the skin alone the rest of the day. In a week you will see an improvement. Keep up this treatment all the time.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Can you tell me what will remove paste marks from a plain green wall paper?

MISS S. S.

I know of no way unless you can soften it with a wet sponge, then gradually and gently sponge it off, without injuring the paper.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

THE countless gold of a merry heart.

The rubles and pearls of a loving life. The idle man never can bring to the mark. Nor the cunning board up in his treasury.

MEAT SUBSTITUTES.

The housewife who finds it difficult, with the present high prices of meat, to keep her household expense within bounds, may gain new inspiration from studying the following nut dishes.

Nut Timbales.—Crush a cup of hickory nut meats and roll very fine; add two well beaten eggs, one-fourth of a cup of bread crumbs, a cup of thin cream, half a teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of red pepper. Line timbale molds with strips of pimento, and turn in the mixture. Put the molds in a basin of boiling water and bake in a moderate oven for twenty minutes. Unmold and serve with cream sauce.

Nuts and mushrooms served in a white sauce in ramekins makes a delicious entrée.

Nut Chowder.—Cook slowly until tender two cups of pecan nut meats (either chopped or broken) in four cups of water, then strain and add a half cup each of diced potatoes and carrots, two small onions thinly sliced, two tablespoonfuls of green pepper chopped and two cups of stewed tomatoes. Cook until the diced vegetables are soft, without losing the shape, and turn the mixture into a colander to drain.

Mix in carefully the nut meats and turn into a hot serving dish. Reheat the stock in which the vegetables were cooked, thicken with two tablespoonfuls each of peanut butter and flour cooked together; cook until smooth, and pour over the vegetables and serve.

Lentil Fillets.—Wash one cup of lentils and soak over night. In the morning drain and parboil in fresh boiling water thirty minutes; drain and cook until soft in sufficient boiling water to cover; rub through a sieve and to the puree add a fourth of a cup of olive oil, one cup of fine graham bread crumbs, one cup of strained tomatoes to which a speck of soda has been added, one cup of fibrous chopped and crushed to a paste, a tablespoonful each of grated celery and onion. Season with mixed herbs, salt and pepper. Mix well and mold in the form of fillets, place in a well oiled pan and brown in a quick oven. Serve with tomato sauce.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Things Worth Knowing.

Wash with warm water all paste-board tops from milk bottles and save. Excellent to clean greasy plates or pans. Better than a knife for scraping all pots and kettles and does not scratch.

For Ivy Poisoning.—Wash at once with half water and half alcohol, using green soap.

Quilt Seen Door.—Take two rubber washers, cut them in half, then take extra small tacks and tack the four pieces running from top to bottom of door where screen door slams, and you will have no noise when the little ones run in and out.

When the knives of my food chopper become black and dull, I run a small piece of sand soap through the chopper, just as I would a meatball, and it both brightens and sharpens the knives, making them cut like new.

The Table.

Tomato Sage.—Boil a pint of tomatoes and three pints of consommé in a saucepan for ten minutes, seasoning with a little salt and pepper. Then add two tablespoonfuls of sage and cook for fifteen minutes longer, stirring gently all the time. Serve at once.

Timbales.—Flake as fine as possible a cupful and a half of any cooked meat, add a cupful of eggs, a cupful of milk and salt and pepper to season. Fill small buttered tins or cups about half full, set in a pan of hot water and bake about twenty minutes.

Twenty minutes. Turn out on a hot platter and pour over them a hotful of cream or tomato sauce to which a tiny bit of mustard has been added. Garnish with parsley.

If preferred the molds may be lined with freshly cooked spaghetti, left long enough to wind spirally around the mold, beginning at the bottom and going up until the top is reached.

Oatmeal Bread.—Four cupfuls of fine oatmeal, 8 cupfuls of boiling water, 1 cupful of molasses, 1 tablespoonful of salt, 1 yeast cake dissolved in a little lukewarm water, molasses, salt and enough flour to make a stiff batter. Knead it with a little flour. Allow it to rise, then mold into loaves. Allow to rise again; then bake for one hour. This quantity will make eight nice loaves.

Pineapple Delight.—One cupful of chopped pineapple, 1 cupful of whipped cream, 1 tablespoonful of gelatin, 2 cupfuls of boiling water or pineapple juice, 2 tablespoonfuls of rice, a pinch of salt, 3/4 cupful of sugar and a few preserved cherries.

Boil the rice until very soft, then drain it. Dissolve the gelatin in the boiling water, then add the sugar, salt and the pineapple and the whipped cream. Cool and serve in dainty glasses with a cherry on the top of each.

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES.

Harry F. Hooper, a representative of a Chicago school supply house, was a caller at the office on Thursday.

W. E. Emery of Madison for many years a representative of The American Book Co., visited the school Wednesday morning.

Miss Margaret Arneson of Clinton, who has been teaching a country school, was much interested in the work of the training school which she saw on Tuesday, visiting her friend, Anna Fortson.

Margaret Fisher and Corinne Grandall of Milton Junction, both of whom have been teaching, visited classes at the school last week.

Dr. J. A. Loomis, father of Edna Loomis, who graduates from the Training School this week, spent some time at the school on Monday, and was induced to speak to the students in the period before the noon hour.

The doctor gave some very helpful hints and suggestions, which if observed would tend to secure greater physical and mental efficiency. Such talks are valuable.

The members of the senior class and the teachers of the school spent a most delightful afternoon on Friday at the home of Esther Barnum in Fordville. Miss Barnum, as hostess of the occasion, was most hospitable in the reception and entertainment of her guests. A fine dinner was served, and games were played and all came home on the afternoon train with the single opinion that they had a very pleasant outing.

We publish the program for Commencement this week. The exercises for the week close the second year of work and this is the last list of School Notes. Many people read these items and many friends of the school stand ready to give us a good word. Plans are being made for the third year, and several lines of progressive ideas are being worked out. The next year will be the best of the three in many respects. Prospective students

The Home Beauty Panoply

By Betty Dean

Ray: If you find it hard to make face powder stay on in summer, try this simple, home-made, economical lotion which does not rub off chances of sunburn and dissolve in a pint hot water or witch-hazel. Add two spoonfuls of glycerine and let stand until cool, then mix with the face cream, rubbing it in well. The effect is natural and lasting. It seems a part of the skin and robes the face with a look, while giving a velvety softness to the skin.

Brown Eyes: From what you say I think your eyes are simply overworked. I am sure all you need is a simple tonic. Here is one I always recommend. Dissolve an ounce of cayenne in a pint of water, one or two drops in each eye every day will soon show a great improvement. In simple and strength. It may cost a further expense of oculist and glasses. Try it. Possibly your system is a bit run down also. For a good tonic see answer to Winton.

Wrinkles: Your complexion troubles are doubtless caused by generally run-down condition, common in the warm months. I can heartily recommend this tonic for purifying the blood and building up of appetite and strength. You can make it at home at little expense. Just dissolve an ounce of cayenne (any good drugist keeps it) in a pint of water, add 1/2 cup sugar and enough water to make a full quart. Take it regularly—a tablespoonful before meals and twice a day. It will not only improve your complexion but will do wonders to restore your slender proportions, because it leaves the flesh firm.

Blonde: If your hair is changing color, by all means get this shampoo. It will keep it light and fluffy; will prevent or cure dandruff and remove the excess oil which causes dandruff. Get some plain candor from your druggist and for each shampoo dissolve a scant teaspoonful in a cup of water. Pour on the head gradually, rubbing in well. Makes a soothing, exhilarating, perfumed lather. This is inexpensive and simple, but the results will surprise you.

Mrs. N.: The wrinkles and lines in your skin are probably caused by extreme dryness. There is a preparation which you can make for yourself which will remove the wrinkles and restore the softness and natural tone to the skin. Get an ounce of alcohol at the drug store and dissolve it in 1/2 pint of cold water, adding two teaspoons glycerine. Apply before retiring and leave over night. This will remove wrinkles, prevent crows' feet and make your face soft and satiny. It clears and whitens the skin, too.

Laura: The dandruff of which you complain is so easily remedied that I wonder you will not stop with it. Dandruff is an unsightly thing and positively prevents a healthy growth of hair. Get rid of it by applying twice a week a simple preparation made at home by mixing 1/2 pint of quinine in 1/2 pint of alcohol and 1/2 pint of water. This is a natural tonic to which many tell me they owe the growth of their hair.

Do not try to reduce by dieting or heavy exercise. I have tried both to reduce flesh without result, fasting or hourly exercise. I repeat the recipe for your benefit: Take a common patent dish, solve it in 1/2 pint of water and take a tablespoonful three times a day before meals. It is harmless and will do wonders to restore your slender proportions, because it leaves the flesh firm.

Mr. M.: I cannot recommend any hair dye. See answer to Ray for liquid beauty.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

would do well to visit the school.

The inspector from the state department who visited the training school two weeks ago has sent Superintendent Antisdel, the secretary of the board, a strong endorsement of the work being done in the school. Special emphasis is laid upon the point that practical work in preparation for the rural school teaching is being carried on successfully in the school.

The school management class has been making a special study of the heating and ventilating of a country school house recently. One of the senior essays was written and read upon the subject.

Several very good senior essays have been given recently by Mabel Francis, Frances McCabe, Mable McKean, Alice Loomis, Nellie Mayo and Alice Lowery. All showed much thoughtful preparation.

A Pierpont Morgan met, or epigram, on the subject of energy was repeated the other night at the Metropolitan Club in New York, where Mr. Morgan once said: "The satisfied, unambitious man, the man without energy, can seldom afford to take that famous and popular room at the top."

It's the poor, disorderly, hurry-up kind that hates to keep house, knows nothing about it and usually tells her friends how she "hates housekeeping." It is such "drudgery." It is only when a task is not understood that it is insulted by that epithet of "drudgery." The men working in the street near my home making themselves useful performing service by laying street car rails over which people of this city may pass in safety, are not doing drudgery; they are true artists. Heard Dr. Wiley recently, while giving a lecture, say:

"I had rather cook a potato well than to have painted the frescoes of the Vatican. Which no disrespect to my friend, Michael Angelo."

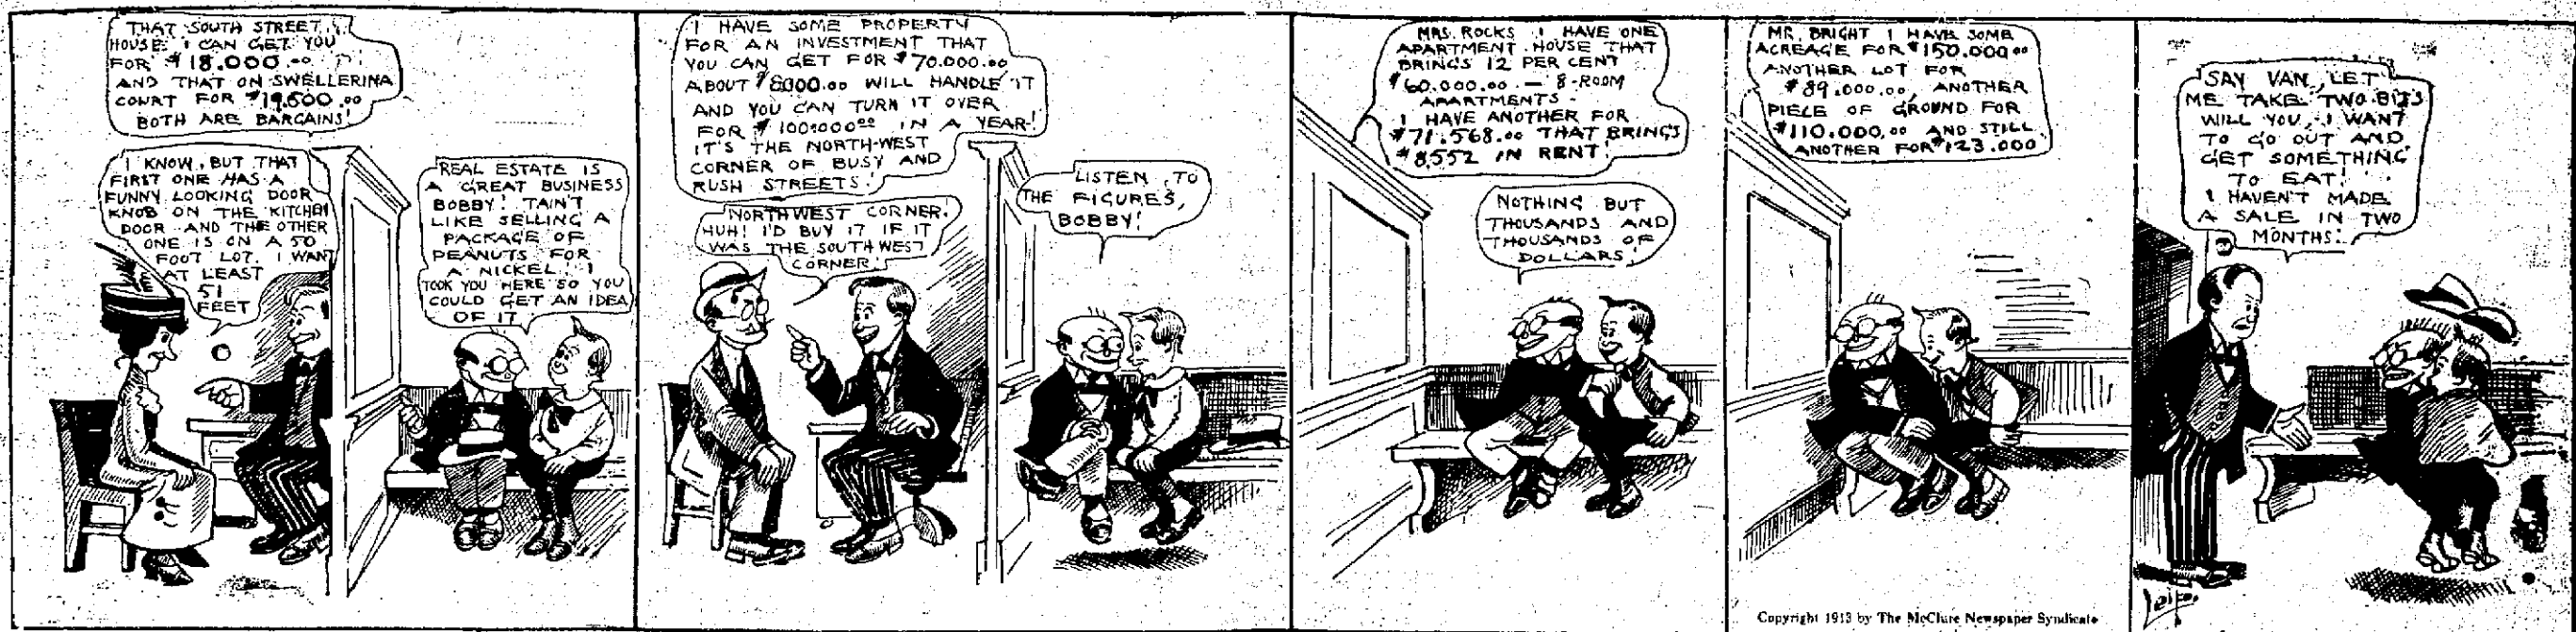

Now that our attitude is right toward the work in the home, it will be a pleasure to rise in the morning and face the day's work. Comb the hair neatly and dress in the most comfortable of a light colored wash material, a small apron, white or light colored with no gathers.

Remove all the clothes from the bed, turn the mattress, leave the windows wide open unless it is storming, and go out into the kitchen and prepare the breakfast, which has been planned the day before. See that it is on time, as that is quite important in starting the day right for the husband.

After breakfast clear the table, wash the glass, then silver, and then dishes. Now make out the menus for the next day, three meals in advance—dinner, breakfast and luncheon—using everything possible which is on hand in the refrigerator, allowing nothing to spoil.

Make out the grocery order at the same time and go every time to select groceries of meat yourself. This can never be learned over the telephone.

Now we are ready to make the bed, dust, change the dress for one suitable for the street, and go to market. I think if I were to select a home today I should have two things in mind in regard to its location—first, cleanliness, and the purest grocery store and meat market in town, and convenient for my husband's business. This being done it will be a pleasure to market and

Two Women Tell How They Escaped the Surgeon's Knife by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Swarthmore, Penn. — "For fifteen years I suffered untold agony, and for one period of nearly two years I had hemorrhages and the doctors told me I would have to undergo an operation, but I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am in good health now. I am all over the Change of Life and cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too highly. Every woman should take it at that time. I recommend it to both old and young for female troubles." — Mrs. EMILY SUMMERSGILL, Swarthmore, Pa.

Baltimore, Md. — "My troubles began with the loss of a child, and I had hemorrhages for four months. The doctors said an operation was necessary, but I decided it and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The medicine has made me a well woman and I feel strong and do my own work." — Mrs. J. R. PICKING, 1280 Sargent St., Baltimore, Md.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, it is not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner.

THE DAUGHTER OF DAVID KERR

By HARRY KING TOOTLE

Illustrations by RAY WALTERS

"I learned at luncheon that you were going away," she acknowledged. "Since you would not come to see me, I had to come to see you."

Again his amazement equaled that the sight of her in his living room had occasioned. He permitted it to betray itself by exclaiming:

"Since I wouldn't come to see you! Surely, Miss Kerr, you didn't expect that? There was nothing whatever equivocal about my dismissal."

"This was something she had not planned, a reference to the past. She wished merely to warn him and then take leave of him forever."

"I didn't come with a desire to refer to that," she answered. "You must realize that what I have to say seems to me of the utmost importance, else I—oh, you can't know the effort it has cost me to come here."

"I'm sorry if your dislike is so intense," she said. "She shook her head, with a smile that was only a sad lighting up of her countenance, like the last flare of an expiring flame."

"Let us not speak of like or dislike. All that is past. It is true I promised myself never to see you again, but since that day in Judge Gilbert's office events have shed such a new light on Belmont and on me that I feel some explanations are due you before you go away."

Quick as a flash he saw that she had learned the truth, or at least some part of it. With his characteristic generosity he wished to relieve her of the necessity of making explanations.

"I appreciate your coming, Miss Kerr, from the bottom of my heart I do, but if—anything you think you have to tell causes you pain, I'd rather far that what you wish to say should remain unspoken."

"That's generous of you, but I should find it harder to maintain silence—because I want to be just."

"Miss Kerr! There is no occasion for you to—"

"Please, please, don't interrupt me. It's hard enough as it is. A chair he had brought for Gloria she had refused, and now he sank into it himself, his head resting in his hands as he listened.

"I have lived away from Belmont," she went on in an even, repressed monotone that cut him to the heart, "since I was a little girl, too young to understand, and I was brought up to believe that my father was—well, just the opposite of what he is. It was all a mistake, of course. It was no fault of mine, but I must suffer for it just the same. I had everything money could buy; and then you came—and I had love."

Her voice trembled for the instant. Wright could not stand it.

"Gloria!" he cried, seeking to stop her, but she went on again in the same impersonal manner, apparently unheeding his gesture for her to desist as much as she did the cry of pain that burst from his lips.

"But no one was really kind to me. I lived in a fool's Paradise. I did not know the truth." Then vehemently, losing control of herself: "Oh, why did you ever speak to me of love! You, of all men, to make my humiliation doubly great."

"I have some property for an investment that you can get for $70,000.00 about $8000.00 will handle it and you can turn it over for $100,000.00 in a year! It's the north-west corner of busy and rush streets."

"NORTH-WEST CORNER! HUH! I'D BUY IT IF IT WAS THE SOUTH-WEST CORNER."

"LISTEN TO THE FIGURES, BOBBY!"

"BUT I DO," she insisted, "because I know the truth." Here was the whole reason for her coming, she told herself. "Since you're in this fight to stay—even though you're fighting my own father—I want you to have all the protection that knowledge of the truth will afford. I've come to warn you."

Wright saw that he had not made her understand that he was giving up the fight.

"But I'm going away." "Yes, you've told me; but you're coming back again because you know your place is here. There's work to do."

He recognized instantly that it was her wish for him to remain. Her belief in him, such as it was, centered about his efforts to make Belmont a better place. Not wishing to explain what pain it would constantly give him were he to do so, he avoided the matter by referring to her own future.

"What are you going to do?" "I'm going abroad in a few days." "What does your father say to that?" Gloria's lip curled with scorn at the question. Her answer came with the coldness of a woman of the world.

"He can't say anything. What is he to me? I haven't even sent him word yet. He gave me everything in the world, but then at the supreme moment of my life he robbed me of it all. Would a father do that?" she asked fiercely. "What allegiance do I owe him. The claim of blood! Bah! He's always wished I'd been a boy. He didn't lie to me because he loved me. He didn't even know me. Do you think it wrenches my heart to leave him now? No, a thousand times no. We've lived too many years apart. What have we in sympathy? We'd be strangers though we lived under the same roof for years."

"But when you go abroad what are you going to do?" He could see no future for her.

"Just drift. There is so much that I want to forget."

"Much, Gloria?" he asked gently. "Yes, much." She would not let him trap her into a damaging admission.

"Everything?" "Everything painful."

Her attitude, he felt it was antagonistic, impatient even of his kindly questioning, stirred him to a vigorous reply. "After all, she was but a child, and like a child wanted to shirk the lesson life was teaching her."

"Surely I've not been mistaken in you," he began. "It's by suffering that we learn to live. You've only come to see life as it is, that's all. Would you throw away the precious knowledge that is power for an Arcadian ignorance akin to weakness? You've just said that you've come to warn me of something. Were you true to your theory of life, you would leave me in ignorance, because the truth would give me pain. But you don't believe that."

From the depth of his world-scarred heart he pitied her. She was so young, and so rebellious. He yearned with a great longing to protect her. "It's easy enough to talk and give advice," Gloria flung back at him. "What has suffering taught you?"

Here was a question he could answer, and answer decisively.

"It has taught me to be true to my better self." He spoke sternly. Then he regretted that he had seemed harsh with her; for it did not soften her, and she made no comment.

"Please sit down," he said. She accepted the proffered chair stiffly and waited. He had listened to her patiently, and she felt it only fair to hear what he had to say before she left him forever.

Wright came as close to her as he dared. As he spoke, she abandoned the rigid attitude she had felt constrained to assume and sank back in the big chair.

"Gloria! I didn't mean to be harsh just now. God knows I would spare you all you have been through could I have done so. Blot out this terrible week. Can't we go back to that headlong courtship crowded into half an hour? Let everything be as it was. Then I begged you to go away. Now since you are going, let us go together. Listen, don't you remember?"

The sun is the flame of the desert. And you are the flame of my heart. Driven indeed is the desert unshaded. And dreary without you, my heart.

"You know it's the truth, Gloria. Let us go together."

"Don't make it so hard for me, Joe, dear," she begged. "When you kissed me I thought I knew my heart, but now nothing in the whole world will ever be the same again. You mustn't blame me; I still like you, more than ever, but in a different way. Can't you understand? You have told me I'm more than a shallow, frivolous girl. I honor you for the offer, Joe, but I wouldn't be true to that better self you talk about if I accepted."

"I make no offer, Gloria," he pleaded. "I'm begging you to love me, to become my wife."

She trembled visibly at his words. Yet her resolution was such that she was not shaken from her purpose. She did not dare look at him, however, as she answered:

"I'm afraid the love one must beg for wouldn't be worth having, Joe. You wouldn't be happy with me. No matter where we went you couldn't forget what happened here. Then consider me—if you'd ever be absent-minded for a minute, gazing into space, I'd know you were thinking of Belmont and the opportunities you'd thrown away because of me. I couldn't stand it. I'd always feel that you were recalling the past and regretting the present. It would kill me. No, Joe, I couldn't."

Can't Beat "GETS-IT" for Corns—It's Sure

Never Tried It Before?—You'll Marvel How It Makes Corns Vanish.

There never was anything like "GETS-IT" for corns, and there isn't anything like it now. It is the corn cure on a new principle.

"Oh My, Oh My, What a Relief! 'GETS-IT' Stops Corn Pains Right Off and Gets Corns Every Time."

Put it on any corn in two seconds: it stops pain, the corn begins to shrivel and disappear. It never falls. Simplest thing you ever saw. No fussy bandages, no greasy salves to turn healthy flesh, "peely" and raw, no plasters that make corns bulge and hurt. Your corns won't pull and hurt away out to your heart. Lay aside your knife and winching, no more digging and clogging danger of blood poison. "GETS-IT" never cures, simply sure. For warts, calluses and bunions, too.
